

What Can I Do?

Throughout New Jersey, thousands upon thousands of concerned people among the comfortable majority are asking what they can do about the distress of their fellow citizens and humans in the uncomfortable minority. Yet, they wonder in frustration how one person can help solve the massive needs in employment, education, housing and other areas reflecting our social injustices.

A distinguished nonpartisan citizens panel, called the New Jersey Civil Disorder Study Commission, has identified the problems, their roots, and made specific proposals for a massive program to reduce and erase the injustices. The Commission said the remedies, like the causes, are the responsibility of the majority, and the Legislature has indicated a desire to hear how the people of the State feel about the proposals and paying for them.

THERE IS SOMETHING YOU CAN DO!

- Join your fellow concerned citizens in support of the Civil Disorder Commission's report at the May 27 MAJORITY RESPONSE RALLY in Trenton.
- Write your Senators and Assemblymen.
- Speak out for justice and equality whenever you hear or see them attacked. Only a change in attitude will mean a change in the treatment of—and the reaction by—the minority.
- Mobilize your church, civic, business, labor, education, campus or other group to bring at least five people to the rally to hear many leading New Jerseyans.
- Send check to defray advertising and office expenses to MAJORITY RESPONSE RALLY at address below.
- Call, write or visit the headquarters to volunteer or for information.

DO THESE THINGS AND YOU CAN BE PART OF A MASSIVE VOICE THAT WILL BE HEARD.
